EASTER SUNDAY

THEME: The Lord Has Indeed Risen A person who is privileged to visit the tombs of the Pharaohs in Egypt or reads about them in pictorial books is struck by those people's concern about a hereafter. The hieroglyphics for the "life everlasting" appear on the murals time and again. People want to live. Easter is the feast of life. "The Lord has indeed risen, Alleluia" (Entrance Antiphon). "Alleluia – Praise the Lord!" Marks all prayers and songs of this festival season. It represents the joy of Christians: The Lord's death was not a defeat but a victory! And we share in the Lord's victory over suffering and death, knowing that life everlasting with Christ will be ours. "We look for the resurrection of the dead, and the life of the world to come (Profession of Faith).

People want to know: What is the manner of my existence after death? "How are the dead raised up? What kind of body will they have?" (1 Cor 15,35). Paul calls this a nonsensical question. And he adds: "The seed you sow does not germinate until it dies. When you sow, you do not sow the full-blown plant, but a kernel of wheat or some other grain. God gives body to it as he pleases – to each seed its fruition" (1Cor 15,36-38).

This seems to indicate that our lives now are the kernels for which "Earthly human beings" must grow into the persons they will be for all eternity. "This corruptible body must be clothed with incorruptibility" (1 Cor 15,53). The words found in 1 Corinthians 15, 35-38 offer some insight to the inquisitive reader, but ultimately we must leave the details up to God who promised that our reward will be hundredfold.
